The challenge:

Every organisation looks for ways to become more agile, yet landing the transformational change often gets stuck because of the organisational culture and mindset.

The solution:

Business Technology Academy's Agile Leadership Training

At the end of the one-day course, you will understand the importance of:

- business focus and customer value
- working as a united team
- a shared language and goals
- reduced cost to quality
- reduced time to test
- accelerated time to market
- continuous application deployment and delivery
- increased ability to release more and faster

The course is based on a DevOps simulation game that takes place over 3 rounds. Each round takes you closer to the desired goals of creating a united team culture, becoming product-focused and achieving faster delivery. It's a learning method unlike any you've tried before!

WHAT IS A DEVOPS SIMULATION GAME?

Based on a simulation game idea originally used by the military.

Developed together with G2G3, a global company headquartered in Edinburgh, UK (Gartner Cool Vendor).

Based on DevOps principles and aligned with the Business Technology Standard.

Business Technology Academy is the first training partner of G2G3 in Finland.

The simulation game allows you to understand the challenges and to adopt the agile methodologies the way they are meant to work. You will learn by making mistakes, reacting with emotions, and falling into traps – so you will never make the same mistake again! It's a kinesthetic learning experience: not only fun, but also refreshing in today's digital world!

Join this simulation journey for an unforgettable experience!
